Summer school

What change for Europe? Ecological transition and citizen action

The sustainable development and environmental issues are now a priority for societies as well as for national and international organisations. Citizens, of all ages and from all continents, are increasingly concerned about the challenges they face, and are trying to make their voices heard by participating in many movements. This seminar will deal with the changes and the kind of transition necessary to achieve, in order to better preserve and respect our planet, and will enable the participants to collectively reflect in order to build up scenarios and proposals, allowing everyone to become an actor in this field.

SAVE THE DATE ★ 2-3 JUILLET 2021 - On line

Every year in July, the summer school of the European College of Cluny offers a unique opportunity to participants coming from all over Europe and beyond, to share their thoughts and ideas in order to better understand the challenges currently facing Europe. This year, in consideration of the health situation related to the Covid-19 pandemic, the summer school will be held online on two days, and will deal with the changes and the kind of transition necessary to achieve, in order to better preserve and respect our planet. The Summer School relies on 20 years' experience whereby more than 800 young citizens were already welcomed.

More information: e-europe.info/

The European College of Cluny is a place for training, research and reflection on local public action, viewed from a European perspective and driven by the spirit of innovation. It is based on the principles of academic excellence, European openness, multidisciplinary and comparative approaches towards issues of local action across Europe.
